GREENLAND HELICOPTER SKIING EXPEDITION

Since 2002 the Powderbird team has been traveling to Greenland to explore the seemingly endless ski and snowboard opportunities. Most of Greenland lies below 1000 meters of ice, the burden so great that the island's interior is compressed to below sea level. Around its edges the icecap spills down into thousands of glaciers, sculpting out fjords and rugged mountain ranges. It is here, where the glaciers clash with the North Atlantic, that we are blessed with some of the most scenic and coveted ski terrain on the globe.

POWDERBIRD GREENLAND TRIP OPTIONS

Greenland offers big vertical, with many runs from 3,000-5,000 vertical feet! There are numerous opportunities for first descents, dry polar powder, and long ski days. We operate our weeklong ski adventures from different locations, giving our clients the opportunity to choose their own unique Greenlandic experience. Options include lodging accommodations at a harborside hotel located in the fishing community of Maniitsoq, staying on the ship Kisaq as we travel to new heli-ski destinations along the coast, or flying from an arctic camp setup in any number of beautiful locations.
